

1.

- a. The general theme is an Escape from Tarkov website similar to tarkov-market.com using data mining.
- b. It is going to analyze real-time data of the flea market this game hosts, stats about weapons, prices, etc.
- c. The target audience will be Escape from Tarkov players.
- d. Players will login to the site and require an account to use certain advanced features.
- e. There will be a lot of data managed by this website. Things such as images of gear like weapons, ammo, armor, will be uploaded. Other data such as user comments and price checkers will be used.
- f. I'm unsure that I will be able to implement the full spectrum of functionality similar to the website I'm using, so more complicated features such as certain calculators or trackers might not be implemented and could be in the future.

2. Domain name will be howmanyrubles.com